As you can see we are doing things just a little different this year. We have men and women divisions along with exciting activities to motivate your interest and increase conference participation. This year you can form your own foursomes if you want to help generate more customer interest in your products. Our goal is to make it more exciting, entertaining, and fun, increase participation and increase your exposure to conference attendees. Sponsor a hole and we will arrange to hand out your company give aways as participants play YOUR HOLE. We are trying to make this your event. We look forward to all vendors sponsoring at least one hole and participating as a total participant in this fun event. We will make a special effort to acknowledge those vendors that participate.
